

A Hathor Planetary Message through Tom Kenyon Chaotic Nodes and Dimensional Attunements

---

Chaotic Nodes

In one of our previous communications we discussed the concept of chaotic nodes. From our perspective we believe you are on the cusp of one such node.

When predicting chaotic events, one is presented with an enigma, since by its very nature chaos is unpredictable. Yet within the flow of chaotic events there is a substructure that feeds the flow of chaos, as you experience it. Based upon our understanding of this sub-structure (the quantum-field), we predict that a Chaotic Node will manifest somewhere in the next 90 days. In reality it could appear within hours of this message or weeks past the window we have predicted. (Note: see previous Hathor message entitled, Chaotic Nodes: http://tomkenyon.com/chaotic-nodes/.)

Nevertheless, regardless of the actual timing of this Chaotic Node, we believe that it will present itself in multiple ways, involving international finance, challenges to physical and mental health, planetary earth changes, including earthquake and volcanic activity, and increased weather anomalies. All of these events will strain the resources that your governments have to cope with such things.

As we said previously, the nature of Chaotic Nodes is such that there are multiple effects that cannot be predicted, and so we do not wish to address the specific aspects of chaos that we believe will arise, but rather we wish to discuss strategies for dealing with the chaos, energetically and spiritually.

We suggest you shift your perspective regarding chaos and view it not as an inconvenience and a difficulty, but rather as an evolutionary catalyst. How such events affect you resides in how you view them.

What we mean by this is that there is a tendency for human consciousness to get stuck in a rut, to anticipate what things are going to be like, and to take actions based upon those predictions. And for most people, when the reality does not match expectation this creates great internal travail, and yet by the very nature of Chaotic Nodes your predictive abilities collapse in the midst of multiple probabilities.

For most persons, chaotic events generate a fear response, since the stability that one counts on to predict appropriate action has seemingly disappeared. And while fear is certainly an understandable response, it is only one of many possible responses. Thus, we encourage you to train your mind to jump out of the habitual rut of self-limitation and expectation, on a moment's notice, whenever confronted with unexpected events.

From an energetic standpoint, what happens to you in a given situation has more to do with your vibrational frequency, meaning the state of your consciousness, than where you are physically located.

Thus, two people in the same location experiencing chaotic events can have vastly different emotional responses. Whereas one person might be paralyzed with fear, anger, and resentment, the other person might experience the moment as humorous. He or she "gets" the cosmic joke, which is the sudden and unexpected realization that the reality everyone experiences as "real" is nothing more than the fabrication of their own minds.

When chaotic events disturb the status quo, a doorway briefly appears, an opportunity if you will, to jump upward in consciousness, to wake up from the dream spell. But waking up from the collective dream only occurs if you are prepared to step across the threshold.

For a person who is prepared mentally and emotionally to embrace chaotic events as evolutionary catalysts, the near future will be full of amusing incidents, unexpected serendipity, and a feeling of waking up from a mass dream that has gripped humanity for the last several thousand years.

So here is the line in the sand, so to speak. For those who wish to continue blaming others for the problems they are facing, for those who would rather die than wake up from the dream that they are collectively dreaming, this coming Chaotic Node will be extremely difficult to contend with, and as we have said, this is just the first of many such nodes to come. But for a person who has embraced the idea that Chaotic Nodes are evolutionary catalysts, it will be a different story.

Again, it is not where you are physically located that matters, it is your vibratory frequency, the state of your consciousness.

In the past we have given many tools to assist you as you move through these portals that are a necessary and unavoidable aspect to the ascent of earth and humanity. Some of these methods we have shared involve sacred geometry. Some of them involve emotional mastery and what we call "ecstasy and the heart." We would suggest that you refer to these previous messages and work with the tools we have given.

For although we have said it twice already, we shall say it a third time. It is a fundamental principal we would like you to understand.

It does not matter where you are physically located. It is the state of your vibratory frequency, your state of consciousness that matters most.

However we wish to turn our attention to a very simple method of shifting your vibratory frequency.

When you are in what we call a "coherent vibratory frequency" you move through chaotic events with a greater deal of mastery, heightened intuition, and greater awareness of how you are creating the dream for yourself. These three elements free consciousness and create a positive attractor, so that in the midst of chaos you find the passageways (i.e. the right actions) that will lead you through chaotic situations. This is the type of spiritual mastery that will guide you through the coming times.

Although there are very sophisticated and complex coherent emotional states you are capable of, we wish to speak to the simplest one. You would call it "joy" or "appreciation." When you are in a state of joy or appreciation, your vibratory frequency shifts and you are at the beginning of a continuum of vibration that moves upward.

So however you do it, and there are many ways to do this, we encourage you to choose joy and appreciation as the primary emotional tones you live in. This is mental and emotional training, and we consider it vital to prepare for what is coming your way.

Your culture hypnotizes you into believing that you must have a reason to feel joy or appreciation, but we say to you as spiritual masters, you have the ability to create this response regardless of what is happening around you.

In other words, you do not need a reason to feel joy or appreciation. If you train yourself to move into, and live in, this vibratory realm, you will pass through the coming chaotic times with a greater degree of mastery, heightened intuition and unexpected serendipity.

Dimensional Attunements

We wish to share with you a gift of sound, what we call a Dimensional Attunement to assist you through the energetic portal that the earth is now passing through.

Dimensional Attunements are a series of sound patterns that shift your vibratory rate through specific actions on energy centers within your subtle body. In future communications we will offer many Dimensional Attunements, based upon how we perceive the transition of earth and humanity from its current dimension into higher realms of consciousness.

This first Dimensional Attunement we are offering deals with the pineal gland, which has within it a crystalline structure, and from our perspective, operates like a cosmic antenna, allowing you to receive impressions, information and energy from the light realms of being.

When you listen to the Dimensional Attunement, we suggest you place your awareness in the center of your head, and as you listen to the sounds, imagine that they are coming out from the pineal gland, which is located in the center of the head. This shift in perceptual imagination will allow the sound patterns to work with you more effectively.

There is, paradoxically, within the crystalline structure of your pineal gland an infinite world of subtle impressions, knowledge and information.

Depending upon your level of self-awareness and evolution, you might experience the effects of this Dimensional Attunement as a simple energy movement within the center of your head or you might experience the complex waveforms of light that it generates. And you might experience the flows of this light and informational-energy throughout the neural networks of your brain, and in some cases, through your entire body and subtle bodies as well.

We suggest you listen to this attunement and determine, for yourself, if it is something of value for you. For some persons, it may take several "listenings" to determine this. If you feel that this Dimensional Attunement has a positive influence upon your mood, your thinking processes and your subtle awareness, then we would suggest you listen to it at least once a day, or more, if you choose.

In essence, the sound patterns of the Dimensional Attunement are an auditory reflection of complex wave patterns composed of light. You are hearing sound patterns and harmonics, but this is an auditory reflection of what is occurring in the realms of light. In other words, when you use this Dimensional Attunement while focusing upon your pineal gland, you are stimulating complex evolutionary, catalytic light waves that have vast implications for your spiritual journey.

We offer this gift freely with an understanding that those of you who have the ears to hear will recognize this as a music of the spheres, a calling home and the opening of a doorway to a great destiny that awaits you.

The Hathors October 8, 2009

You will find a link to the Dimensional Attunement at the bottom of the page.

---

Tom's Thoughts and Observations

Chaotic Nodes

First of all, I wish to assure our readers that a Chaotic Node does not mean the end of the world. And if the Hathors are correct, there will be a series of these before and well past 2012.

This message is not one of gloom and doom, as I read it, but rather a sobering call to wake up.

Instead of looking at large-scale chaotic events as catastrophes, the Hathors are encouraging us to view them as evolutionary catalysts, doorways through which we can step out of our dream-spell into a greater perceptual reality.

They call this the cosmic joke, the sudden insight that all of us on earth are creating and fabricating our perceptions of reality.

Back in the late 1980's when the Big Eared Guys (one of my many nicknames for the Hathors) started communicating with me, they said from the get-go that earth was undergoing an ascension process by which the planet and all life on it would enter higher dimensions of consciousness.

What this will actually look like (if indeed it does come to pass) is anybody's guess, but one of the facts of ascension according to the Hathors is that chaotic states are unavoidable. They are the signatures of an evolving system as it moves toward a higher energetic resting state.

As I think about the world situation, the on-going financial difficulties, the increasing magnitude of storms, heightened earthquake activity in the Ring of Fire, the latest challenges around the H1N1 virus, as well as the recent and strange simultaneous eruptions of six different volcanoes in Russia, I wonder if we aren't already in the midst of a Chaotic Node.

But upon asking the Hathors this after transcribing their message, they said that we are just at the beginning of a Bell Curve that will present itself as an ever-increasing number of seemingly unrelated chaotic events. This is essentially their definition of a Chaotic Node. (Note: For more insight into their views regarding Chaotic Nodes see message entitled Chaotic Nodes, which you can find in the Archives section of our site, and also linked above.)

Now, for the record, this is only the second time the Hathors have predicted an actual timeline in regard to events. The last time they did this was two years before the current financial meltdown. In that message they predicted a financial meltdown in a window that was from around six months to two years from when they gave the message. So in that instance, the manifestation of their prediction came at the edge of what they foretold, but clearly within the window.

This time they gave the caveat that it is difficult to predict a Chaotic Node due to the unpredictable nature of chaos itself. And so I find it of interest that they would put themselves out on a limb like this.

I have historically found beings who exist in other dimensions of consciousness very poor at predicting exact dates though they sometimes do successfully predict the general theme of events. And so I wouldn't be surprised if the Hathors turn out to be incorrect in their timeline. But I do feel that they are on the mark in regards to the general thrust of things.

I think a lot of us have the very real sense that things are out-of-control and that we are at the edge of some type of collective precipice. What the precipice turns out to be probably won't be clear to us until we are on the other side of it. Hindsight is notoriously better than foresight.

Anyway, the Hathors are encouraging us in this message to master the art of shifting into joy and appreciation at a moment's notice, without needing any reason to do so. They are very clear that this type of spiritual mastery is vital for dealing with the chaos that is coming our way, regardless of when it shows up.

My personal experience with joy and appreciation is that when I manage to be in these emotional states my vibratory field changes, and this does, indeed, generate what the Hathors call a positive attractor, which brings to me (in sometimes mysterious and unpredictable ways) more things to feel joy and appreciation for.

If more and more people enter states of distress due to increased incidents of chaos, the emotional atmosphere of earth is going to get even harder to contend with. And if you are empathic or just spiritually sensitive, you know what I am talking about.

For me the most important point in the first part of this message is a call to us to become masters of joy and appreciation so that we can enter into, and sustain, higher vibratory fields. This will allow us to move through chaotic events, however and whenever they show up, with a greater sense of ease and protection.

Dimensional Attunements

The second part of this message deals with what the Hathors call Dimensional Attunements. These are essentially sound codes that will assist us as we move upward in the ascension process.

They have indicated that they will be sharing several of these sound meditations as they sense the need.

The first Dimensional Attunement deals with the pineal gland, which sits more or less in the center of the head. This is a fascinating gland for several reasons. One of the more exotic aspects of this gland has to do with the fact that it is embedded with crystalline structures that are made of calcite.

According to the Hathors these crystals can act as cosmic antennae and are capable of connecting us to the realms of light and to other dimensions of consciousness. They consider this gland to be vital in the ascension process, and so this first Dimensional Attunement is intended to activate and stimulate the crystalline structures within the pineal gland in order to open or deepen our connection to other realms of being. The net result of this, according to the Hathors, is an increase in spiritual insight, intuition and guidance from those aspects of us that are beyond the constraints of time and space.

It might interest some of you to know the conditions under which this recording was made. True to many of the Hathor sound meditations, this one was downloaded to me in the ungodly hours after midnight. Specifically, I was awakened after I had gone to bed and instructed to go into the studio and start laying down the vocal tracks. The bulk of the recording took place in the six hours remaining before the October Harvest Full Moon.

I suggest you follow the Hathors' suggestion on this one. Listen and see if you are drawn to it. You should be able to tell in a few sessions of listening if this is something that nourishes you and is effective or not.

If it doesn't work for you, forget about it. But if you are like me, you will be amazed at both the subtle energetics of this sound meditation and its effectiveness. I listen to it several times a day and often in an extended session where I repeat the track several times. I find that focusing on the pineal in this way for an extended period deepens the experience and leaves my pineal feeling as if it has been turned into a beacon of light.

To hear the Dimensional Attunement, click here:

<http://tomkenyon.com/sound-gifts/>

For "Ecstasy and the Heart" click here:

<http://tomkenyon.com/ecstasy-and-the-heart>

(Note: If you received this message as a forward from someone rather than directly from us and the link doesn't work, just go to www.tomkenyon.com and look to the left menu bar. Click on Sound Gifts. The link to the sound meditation will be at the top of the list of several free downloads.)