

Briefwechsel mit Tom Kenyon

February 9, 2009

Dear Tom and Judi,

isn't the geometrical form described here equivalent to the MerKaBa shape (in acceleration) as taught by Drunvalo Melchizedek????

I am a bit confused.

I would appreciate a hint.

Love

Christina

February 9, 2009

Absolutely not.

The Merkaba is more complex geometry with counter rotating fields (a star tetradhedron).

The Holon of Ascension is a simple disc with no counter rotating fields. The sole purpose of the Holon is to charge the KA body. The Merkaba has more applications, especially interdimensional travel.

Best regards,

Tom and Judi

February 10, 2009

Thank you. But since it looks really similar I could use my accelerated Merkaba body in the same manner as the holon - simply to save time during my morning meditation?

February 10, 2009

When a Merkaba spins fast enough, it appears more like a disc, so why not. You still have to do the mechanics, connect to BA, ground it and let it circulate energy through the KA, so the process is not the same. You'll just be using a different geometry.

So, for the sake of efficiency you could choose to do the Merkaba, as the geometry, rather than a disc, especially since you are familiar with the Merkaba. Every other aspect of the meditation would have to be the same sequence given in the Hathor posting or it won't achieve what the meditation was given for.

Blessings,

Judi and Tom