

Hundreds of pages of new breakthrough discoveries in the Zero Point Field

Three-part report by Lynne McTaggart (The Field, The Intention Experiment) ready for instant download

We've some very exciting news for anyone who has followed the work of Lynne McTaggart, and her books 'The Field' and 'The Intention Experiment'.

We have recently posted a major new work from her onto our website. Called 'Frontier Science', it gathers together three years' research that Lynne has carried out since the publication of her best-selling books.

Lynne says: "People forget that many of the discoveries I recount in 'The Field' are now more than 30 years old. Of course, the work has been continuing, and there are many other exciting breakthroughs to relate."

But the amount of data that Lynne has collated is so vast that we have had to break 'Frontier Science' into three volumes for easy download. Collectively they total 233 A4 pages of new research and discoveries – which represents around double the research that is contained in 'The Field' and 'The Intention Experiment' combined.

The three volumes, and their contents, are:

Frontier Science, Part I
Contents:

- What does it mean to be Living The Field?
